

OUR ACCESSORIES WERE ROAD TESTED LONGER THAN MOST MOTORCYCLES.

The BMW engineers have spent decades developing a motorcycle renowned for its extraordinary balance and stability.

They are not about to disturb that delicate balance with unwieldy accessories.

All special equipment for a BMW is subjected to road tests more trying than most motorcycles will ever see. Some accessories, in fact, are in research, development and testing for as long as 10 years. (A blink of the eye to a company with BMW's history.)

The final arbiter of BMW helmet, touring bag and fairing design isn't a stylist, but the wind itself. Generated in awesome quantities by the BMW wind tunnel in Ismaning, Germany.

Even clothing for the journey is road-tested and tailored for optimum maneuverability.

The result?

Accessories that enable you to express your individuality to the fullest. Without diminishing your stability or control over the machine in the least. At BMW, safe handling has never been considered optional.
